You're Responses to "In the last six months, someone in my parish has talked to me about the progress of my spiritual growth."

Who, if anyone, checks in with you about your spiritual life? In what ways do people ask about your spiritual life? Casually or formally?

I don't think it ever happened in my life. I'm not sure I would even like it asked of me. Besides, everyone has a different idea of what spiritual life is or means. It might be putting too much emphasis in someone else's hands. I need to figure it out myself because of all the different approaches and I need to figure it out from my own life experience.

How would you like parish leadership and other parish members to keep you accountable to spiritual growth? Be specific.

For those who want help I think there are trained spiritual directors in the parish.

You're responses to "In my parish, I have opportunities to learn and grow."

What is your FAVORITE opportunity for growth at Resurrection?

My favorite opportunity for growth at Resurrection is the 4 o'clock Mass with its choir, inspiring liturgy and Bishop Bob's enlightening homilies.

I think this changes with what goes on in one's life. Right now I would say liturgy. I guess what goes on in ones life during the week make liturgy more or less meaningful too.

Are there any areas you would like Resurrection to provide more opportunities for learning or growth?

I think we could keep on improving liturgy to make it more meaningful to the people. My fear is that Rome is keeping that from happening.
