The Book of Psalms

Hello, and may God's blessings be upon all of you.

Today I would like to talk to you about the only book of the Bible that we use at every liturgy. Can you think of that book? Yes, it is the book of Psalms, sometimes called the Psalter. As we now have a new organ, I thought this would be a good opportunity to talk about the Psalter.

The Book of Psalms is a collection of hymns and lyrical poetry composed by several ancient songwriters. It consists of 150 psalms. The largest contribution, judging from the traditional psalm headings, was made by king David, whose name is attributed to seventy-three of the 150 psalms.

Just a bit about him: The tradition that links David with the Psalter fits well with the biblical description of the king. Besides being a great warrior and leader, he is remembered in Scripture as a talented musician (1 Sam 16:14-23), as an inventor of musical instruments (Amos 6:5), as an accomplished poet (2 Sam 1:19-27), and as the person primarily responsible for organizing the liturgical music of Jerusalem. More than anyone else, David was revered as the "sweet psalmist of Israel" (2 Sam 23:1). Jesus and the authors of the New Testament concur with this ancient tradition, that David authored numerous psalms in the Bible (Mk 12:36; Acts 4:6; Rom 4:6-8; 11:9-10; Heb 4:7).

Besides David, other contributors are also named in the psalm titles. One psalm is attributed to Moses (Ps 90). Two are attributed to David's son and successor, King Solomon (Pss 72,127). Twelve psalms are credited to Asaph (Pss 50, 73-83), three to Jeduthun (Pss 39,62,77), one to Herman the Ezrahite (Ps 89) - all Levites appointed by David to be leaders of musical worship. Eleven psalms are listed as compositions of the Sons of Korah (Pss 42, 44-49, 84-85, 87-88), a family or guild of Levites appointed by David to serve as the gatekeepers of Solomon's Temple, some of whom were singers as well. Finally, more than thirty of the psalms are unattributed to any individual or group.

Fr. Bob's article continued...

The Hebrew title of the Psalter is Tehillim, meaning "Praises". The description is fitting for a book that resonates with songs of divine worship. The Davidic psalms were also considered "prayers" (72:20). The Greek Septuagint, the translation of the Old Testament into Greek, entitles the work Psalmoi which means, "songs sung to the accompaniment of stringed instruments". The Greek tradition is followed by the Latin Vulgate (thank you, St. Jerome) with the heading Liber Psalmorum, "Book of Songs", most modern translations of the Bible have kept this title. Together these titles identify the Psalter as a hymnbook and prayer book for the people of God.

The Book of Psalms is divided into five smaller "books". More about the structure of the Book of Psalms next week. God bless you and keep you. -Fr. Bob

Collection for the Archdiocese for the Military Services, USA

Our parish will take up the Collection for the Archdiocese for the Military Services, USA (AMS), a collection approved by the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops to be taken every three years.

The AMS provides pastoral care to Catholic men and women serving in the U.S. Armed Forces, enrolled at a U.S. Military Academy, being treated as a patient at any of the 153 U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Centers, or who work for the federal government beyond U.S. borders — including those from our own parish and diocese.

The AMS does not receive any funding from the government or military, and has no parishes from which to receive a weekly assessment.

To learn more about the AMS, go to www.milarch.org/nationalcollection

Resurrection donated 375 pounds of food to Doty School Food Pantry with the Res October Food Drive, our 2nd annual event.

THANK YOU for your support!

Here was the ask...

My name is Angela Salm and I am the school social worker at Doty Elementary. Last school year, I created the Doty School Food for Friends Food Pantry and we were able to begin food distribution to families within months. This was due in part to the generosity of your parish hosting a food drive for us. New this year, we are hoping to open our pantry access to Langlade and Webster Schools, as an "Allouez" pantry. Blessings to you all.

Doty School Food Pantry coordinator said that the timing of Res donation of food was a Godsend because of the Government shutdown impacting available food. Now the Doty families have access to the pantry food to help them feed their children so that the kids can be attentive while learning.

Attention Bakers of the Parish!
